

That the FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. Having the Indiana law on the books has allowed me to have a peaceful dinner and enjoy my grand children when the are at the house. I think that if the FCC is going to change the law, they need to take the most strict state law and use that as the basis for making the federal law stronger. Please help to protect my sanity by not changing the Indiana law.